WHO ARE THE FRIENDS?

Since its inception in 1960, the Friends of Morris Library organization has been providing important support for the library. Over the years, the Friends have seen Morris Library change and grow. The holdings now total well over 3 million volumes, and the library offers access to 3-D printing, high-tech SMART classrooms and the multi-media Special Collections. The Friends organization is proud to support SIU's world class Morris Library as it serves the campus community and international scholarship.

EVERYONE IS WELCOME!

The Friends of Morris Library welcomes members from all across the university and community - alumni, faculty, staff, students, parents, neighbors, and various organizations. By becoming a Friend of Morris Library, you demonstrate your support of the library's mission to "support instructional, research, and service needs of Southern Illinois University Carbondale." Membership in the Friends of Morris Library allows you to personally contribute to the operations and growth of Morris Library by helping to forge a partnership between private individuals and one of the premier research libraries in the nation. Through gifts from people like you, Morris Library is able to offset some of the effects of severely diminished public funding.

WHAT WE DO...

The Friends supports Morris Library by underwriting endowments, purchasing additions to the collection, supporting faculty research, funding faculty and staff development, sponsoring events, purchasing much-needed equipment, and contributing to the improvement of facilities including constructing a patio. Also, the Friends annually presents the Delta Award to an author, editor, or publisher associated with our region, who has made significant contributions to culture or scholarship.
